POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

There have been many titanic struggles for President of the United States, down through the eventful years of American history, but none, in all probability, has been more momentous than the battle between Franklin Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie which is now smashing toward a climax.

Party lines have been virtually blacked out. Ordinary issues have been dumped unceremoniously into campaign ash cans.

The death struggle between democracy and dictatorship in the Old World, now threatening to engulf the New World as well, has put a razor edge on voter-awareness in America—and the Third Term issue, raising the question of a possible plunge into dictatorship here, has just about obliterated most of the other issues which campaign strategists had carefully prepared.

Never in the history of the United States, no matter what the emergency, has a President been elected for a third term. The "no third term" tradition is more than tradition; it is, or has been, the unwritten law of American democracy. George Washington, the first President of the United States, declined a third term and set the precedent. Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence and perhaps the nation's most conspicuous apostle of democracy, asserted that: "Should a President consent to be a candidate for a Third Election, I trust he would be rejected on this demonstration of Ambitious Views." Andrew Jackson spoke out vigorously against a Third Term. Woodrow Wilson condemned it. Even the Democratic Party is on record against it.

And pointing the issue, in this campaign of 1940, is the fact that Wendell Willkie and his backers have charged that corrupt political bosses, supporting President Roosevelt's Third Term bid, have already set up city dictatorships in Jersey City, Chicago the Bronx and other communities and are definitely determined to bring totalitarian government to the nation.

President Roosevelt's forces seeking to offset that array of testimony, past and present, have made their main campaign issue the ancient shiboleth: "Don't change horses in the middle of the stream!" They have also insisted that Mr. Roosevelt was "drafted" for the Third Term nomination by the Democratic National Convention. And, finally, they have raised the issue of "the indispensable man," which Wendell Willkie has condemned as tommyrot and un-American.

But behind it all is the question which American voters must decide on Nov. 5: "Is a Third Term the beginning of a dynasty in America? Does it mean that this country, in the hour of its extermity, has joined the dictator nations?"

Mrs. J. M. Harris of Central avenue was a guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Ford of Keyes, Stanislaus county.

YOUTH'S SPLENDID ANSWER

Since the world tumbled into confusion in 1929, the problem of America's youth—with its cynical repudiation of copybook-maxim rules of life, its distrust of elders who had made such a mess of their generation, its "So what" attitude toward the outward trappings of idealism, patriotism and ethics—has worried pundits and moralists.

School papers heralded graduation with the headline, "WPA HERE WE COME!" College students formed the Veterans of Future Wars and sardonically demanded a bonus in advance. Youth in large part appeared to have decided life is a farce, a trick, a false show—to have gone soft and defeatist, without will or purpose.

Then America called on her youth to register for national defense, and there were whispers of dire misgivings—talk of possible anti-draft riots, of wholesale scandalous attempts to evade the law. And then came a paradox like a burst of light: magnificent, unanimous response of 16,000,000 young men, marching as one—rich and poor, white and brown and black—to answer the nation's call to duty.

Youth's answer is of itself a telling indictment of a society that had forced the rebellious "so what?" attitude. Youth resented the depression its elders had somehow brought upon it—youth wanted work, not doles; wanted opportunity for its native egotism and seething energy, not paternalism; wanted action and work and real responsibility.

Handed a real and mighty and precious job, asked to accept solemn responsibility, to incur risks, to make sincere sacrifices for the defense that must make America secure from all enemies, American youth of today responded precisely as American youth responded in '76 and '61 and '17. To any who would threaten the United States, and to all who had come to doubt the integrity of the youth of this land, the young men of America have given their splendid answer.

HALLOWE'EN AHEAD

A tip-off to the oldster—the very young, younger generation has a plot afoot.

This being that season of the year when witches leap onto broomsticks and go riding lickety-split on errands of tell-tale mischief, when goblins take to scrawling their weird autographs on plate-glass store windows and auto windshields, it's inevitable that youngsters should lend full support to these outlandish hi-jinx. They've been doing it since time beyond memory. There's no likelihood they're in any mood to desist this year, come Hallowe'en, Oct. 31.

When pumpkins ripen on the vine, when leaves turn brown and sere, when autumn's blue haze mantles the distant hills and the night air turns sharp and crisp, we must expect masked goblins to rush along the streets, to see candle-lit pumpkins grinning unexpectedly at us from darkened windows, and—what is more—to find on the morrow, unmistakable evidence that there's been witchcraft at work in our midst.

Let oldsters hereby consider themselves warned that the witchery of All Hallow's Eve fast approaches.

HIRAM JOHNSON SPEAKS

That veteran warrior of American politics, Hiram Johnson, has again given proof to the people of California and of the nation that he remains, as ever, the spirited fighter who wears no man's collar.

In his nationwide radio address the other night, Senator Johnson gave compelling reason why he, a traditional Independent and Progressive with no allegiances binding him to speak for any man's party, so stoutly opposes a third term. In this historic election, few can honestly deny that something more is at stake on November 5 than simply a choice between two candidates. In a world where democratic nations and institutions have been utterly vanquished or now confront a last ditch struggle for survival, America next month faces the need of proving before the world that she, unlike the totalitarian powers, has no "indispensable man," that she is fully determined to hold fast to a long venerated democratic tradition.

The grasp for power by any man, anywhere, however noble his intentions is filled with danger, for long acquaintance with, and use of, power breeds hunger for more power and the conviction that it is right to do so.

Senator Johnson has outlined in clear cut language the grievous harm which the "indispensable man," theory will do this country. He has re-affirmed in this century what Jefferson, in an earlier one, said of the no third term principle. In the words of that great president:

"No pretext should ever be permitted to dispense with it, because there never will be a time when real difficulties will not exist and furnish a plausiible pretext for dispensation." Jefferson further expressed the solemn hope, "That should a President consent to be a candidate for a third election, I trust he would be rejected on this demonstration of his ambitious views." For those who respect the wisdom of this deeply rooted tradition there can be, as with Senator Johnson, only one decision on November 5.

AMENDMENT NO. 3

Amendment No. 3 on the November ballot is a referendum measure, non-political and non-partisan.

It was passed by the Senate of the State of California unanimously and was passed by the Assembly of the State of California by a vote of sixty to two. Republicans and Democrats alike voted for it and endorse it.

This amendment would give to the legislature the same jurisdiction over prisons for men that it now has over the prisons for women. By a vote of the people in 1936 jurisdiction over women prisoners was removed from the constitution and returned to the legislature. Today, as a result thereof, we have the inconsistent and illogical situation where the legislature has full control and jurisdiction over prisons for women only. By this amendment the people of the state are asked to finish the job they started, by going all the way and returning to the legislature full jurisdiction and control over all prisons and prisoners in California. There are necessary changes that should be made in California's penal system to bring it in line with recognized prison reforms. Neither the board of prison directors nor the legislature has power to effect these changes under the present law. It can only be done if this amendment passes. The legislature now has similar jurisdiction and control over all other important boards and commissions, and should properly have the same powers in regard to all our prisons.

and Moribana. The Moribana is the more modernized one and the arrangement we are most famliar with and the one that is most easily understood. The arrangements were all interesting and unusual in their choice of form and color. Mrs. Charles Simonds, a former student of Mrs. Turner's assisted her.

After Mrs. Turner's delightful talk tea was served with Mrs. F. L. Howes and Mrs. R. H. Hyde pouring. Several high school girls dressed in Oriental costumes served dainty sandwiches, rice cakes and Chinese nuts and candies. These girls were Barbara Jensen, Betty Jean Jurras, Lois Magnuson, Ernestine Fahler, Elaine Jeffers and Roberta Field.

During the tea hour, Mrs. John Brunswick played softly on the piano a medley of lovely semi-classical numbers.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Nov. 4, with Mrs. J. E. Jefferson as guest speaker. The topic of the day will be "Oriental Interior Decorations."

Elmer Weymouth Issues Statement On Campaign

Carrying his campaign for efficiency and economy in state government into all parts of southern Santa Clara county, Elmer Weymouth, candidate for 31st district Assemblyman, today announced, through his campaign committee, he was receiving endorsements of support from many major groups.

The following statement was issued by Weymouth:

"It is apparent that the people realize there is a need for more businesslike state government and that the most direct way to get it is to elect men to the assembly who will think and act for all of the people.

"The tremendous state deficit which we now face is simon-pure evidence of wasteful extravagance and the bill must be paid by our farmers, our workers, and our businessmen.

"If elected I pledge myself to represent all of the people of my district in an independent, unbiased and unfettered manner, without any pledges to any 'party line' political machines or other instrumentalities that will only cost the taxpayers money."

Merit System For County Employees

Enthusiastic groups of taxpayers, organized labor, voters and citizens are working on an educational program among the voters of this community to point out the advantages of the county ordinance providing a limited civil service or merit system for the selection of county employees.

The board of supervisors have passed an ordinance requiring all county employees to be selected from certified eligible lists of examined applicants. This ordinance has been recommended by grand juries for the past five years as the best means of lowering the operating costs o f county administration. The ordinance must be ratified by a majority of the voters at the General Election, Nov. 5.

Proponents of the measure explain that the ordinance does not provide permanent tenure in office for employees.

It does provide that elected heads of county departments can dismiss employees who are not efficient.

The ordinance will not increase the cost of government to the taxpayer because the five members of the civil service commission serve without pay.

The chief protection to the efficient county employee lies in the fact that inefficient employees may be discharged and replacements must be made from certified lists of examined persons, instead of "by political appointment."

Tax Bills Mailed By Roy Emerson

Roy P. Emerson, County Tax Collector, today started preparing to mail 69,000 tax bills to Santa Clara county taxpayers. All bills should be in the taxpayers' hands by the 28th of October and any one who has not received his tax bill by that date should get in touch with Mr. Emerson's office in the Hall of Justice, San Jose.

The total tax charge for the fiscal year 1940-41, according to figures released by Maurice H. Moore, county auditor, shows a total charge of PE,-780,740.29, compared to $5,-629,776.44 for the fiscal year 1939-40. Of this amount $5,-559,408.23 represents county taxes on real estate, $204,500. is collectible for the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation district and the Southern Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation district. $16,-241.57 is for public improvements for the cities of San Jose and Sunnyvale, and $590. for solvent credits. Of this total amount $608,170.99 is collected from public utility corporations which are assessed by the state board of equalization and which revenue goes into the county coffers.

The general county tax rate set by the board of supervisors shows a decrease of three cents on both inside and outside taxes. Last year the total county rate for cities was $1.5239 compared to $1.49 for this year. The ouside rate for last year was $1.5539 as compared to $1.52 for 1940-1941.

Emerson says that each tax payer should read the important information included with his tax statement.

Emerson also is mailing t o the taxpayers in the Burbank, Campbell and Saratoga Sanitary districts their tax bills along with the regular bills as an a ccommodation.

The first installment of taxes becomes due on Nov. 1 and is delinquent on Dec. 5, 1940. If not paid before Dec. 5, the tax laws require that a penalty of 8 per cent be added to the taxpayer's bill. The second installment may be paid with the first if any one so desires; if not, it becomes due on January 20,1941 and is delinquent on April 21, 1941. If not paid by then a further penalty of 3 per cent and costs is added.

Included with each tax statement is a self-addressed return envelope which allows taxpayers to make their remittances by mail and saves them the inconvenience of calling at the tax collector's office in person.

Likewise, as a further convenience to taxpayers, arrangements have been made to receive tax payments in other cities of the county.

In Campbell tax payments may be made at the Campbell Water company on Friday, Nov. 1, 1940 from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Del Mutolo Is Foe Of Communists

One of the strongest planks in the platform of Assemblyman M. G. Del Mutolo, seeking re-election this November, is his consistent and successful advocacy of the banning of communism in California, his supporters pointed out in a statement issued today.

"Mr. Del Mutolo has not only always opposed communism, but was a co-author of the bill which passed the legislature o n Sept. 21 abolishing the communist party in this state," they said. "The communist party will have no place on the ballots of California voters after this November as the result of Mr. Del Mutolo's courageous stand."

Tuberculosis Control

Tuberculosis can be controlled and eventually eradicated only when persons who appear to be in perfect health will submit to an X-ray of the chest and have it interpreted by a physician, Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States, said recently in a radio address. "Tuberculosis is one of the few diseases that seldom show any symptoms until the body is losing its fight with the germs," Dr. Parran said. "When symptoms do appear, in many cases health is irretrievable and the germs may have spread to other persons. Our defense against this insidious characteristic of tuberculosis is to discover its presence in the body before symptoms appear. The search can be quick and infallible."

Many Species of Moths

Because moths fly at night and are usually not seen, few people realize that there are nine times as many moth species as butterflies.
